Area Roundup

Kelly Killer Found Guilty

HEARNE

A jury in district court at El Reno, Okla., found John Edwardo Swift guilty Tuesday of murdering Robert Duran of Oklahoma May 20, 1972, and senten- ced him to life imprisonment on the charge. This was the third time Swift had been tried in the case. Swift, Duran, Mrs. Joann Adams and Lee Murray Jurode of Hearne were all principal in the brutal May 18, 1972, slaying of H. C. Kelly, his wife, Reo and their daughter, Mrs. Nancy Stovall at the Kelly home in Hearne. County Atty. Bryan Russ said that before Swift could serve his Okla- homa sentence he must be returned to Texas to serve a 101-year sentence in the murder of Jack Kelly.

City Continues To Grow

GEORGETOWN

Since the turn of the century, the population of Georgetown and Williams- on County has been fairly stable, according to figures shown by a study of the area. According to the study, Georgetown continued to grow because of its industry, trade center, and university which continued to offer good jobs. But the amazing part of the study shows that during the past decade, over one-half of George- town's growth was due to in-migration. And if the town expands into an urban center over the next few years, Georgetown will cease to be inhabited only by the "home-town" folks who grew up there.

Moffat Annexed To Belton

BELTON

The Moffat Common School District problem was settled last week by the Bell County School Board when the Moffat district was annexed to the Belton Independent School District. The motion for annexation allows those whose property joins school districts other than Belton to apply to the county board for annexation to those districts. Those districts are Moody, Troy and Gates- ville.

Men Charged With Possession

ROCKDALE

Rockdale police filed three charges of possession of marijuana during the past week, all three misdemeanor complaints, according to Police Chief Tru- man White. Two Bryan men were charged with marijuana possession after city police stopped the men in the car because of a traffic violation. White said. The other charge was filed against a Rockdale man after police answer- ed a disturbance call at a residence.

Burglars Hit Two Businesses

ROSEBUD

Burglars hit two Rosebud business houses during the past week, taking cash, merchandise and meat. Hensel Hardware and Furniture reported missing some $20 in cash and about $4,000 in merchandise. Tasty Mart Cafeteria was burglar- ized sometime Saturday or Sunday night with the thieves entering through a small service window. Taken at the cafeteria was about $50 in cash and money for a cigarette machine, and a 15-pound roast. Apparently they were hungry.

Gatesville Mayor 'Prettiest'

GATESVILLE

Gatesville is going to have the prettiest mayor in its history -- one who could well be the prettiest mayor in all Texas. She is Mrs. Peggy H. Williams, first woman to ever seek the city's highest office. And she won it by 28 votes over opponent Cronje Swindall in an excitingly close race Tuesday. Vote totals were 299 for Mrs. Williams and 271 for Swindall, 26, who was making his first bid for a city office.

Streakers Seen At Ballgame

TEMPLE

Two unidentified male streakers were barely in the Temple Junior College baseball park Wednesday night, but made a brief hit with about 125 onlookers during a baseball game. The two nude young men leaped the chain-link fence in leftfield and loped through the outfield to the centerfield gate and disappear- ed into the night.

OLD MAKES ROOM for the new, and this old Den- son house which had been used for offices is coming down, along with a huge elm tree, to make room for a new office building to be constructed on the site.

Cattle Market Prices Down At Local Auction

Cattle prices at the local auction continued a slight downward trend which has been apparent for several weeks, with some animals selling at least $4 lower Thursday.

According to Cameron Livestock Auction officials, receipts totaled 450 Thursday, up from last year at this time.

Slaughter cows were $1 to $1.50 lower with utility grade selling for $28.50 to $32.50. Slaughter bulls were fully $1 lower with yield grade 1-2 selling for $40 to $44.75. Slaugh- ter steers and heifers were steady in short supply.

Feeder steers were $2 to $4 low- er with good and choice bringing $40 to $42.50. Feeder steer calv- es were $1 to $3 lower and bull calves were fully $3 to $4 lower. They sold for $51.50 to $55.

Feeder heifers were mostly $2 to $3 lower and choice brought $42.50 to $47.50. Cow and calf pairs were weak at $462 to $481 for a few choice and good sold for $325 to $410.

The hog market continued steady with receipts totaling 566 and bar- rows, gilts and sows steady. US 1-2 barrows and gilts brought $33.30 to $34.10 while US 1-2 sows brought $27 to $29.80.

SSI Program Extended For Elderly, Disabled

"SSI Alert has been extended until April 30 in Bell, Coryell, Hamilton, Lampasas, Milam and San Saba Counties," announced Mrs. Katie Cheatham, SSI Project Director.

The new program's goal is to see that eligible persons living alone re- ceive at least $140 a month and cou- ples at least $210.

If you are elderly, blind or disab- led and find that there just isn't enough money to make ends meet, the answer to your problem may be SSI (Supplemental Security Income). This new program is sponsored by the So- cial Security Administration but is State and Federally funded, says Mrs. Cheatham.

Persons who think they might be eligible, and have not signed up prior to this time, should telephone Mrs. Cheatham at (817) 773-2960; or they may send their names, address and telephone number to: Mrs. Katie Cheatham, Bell County Chapter, Cam- erican Red Cross, Municipal Build- ing, Temple, Texas, 76501.

Commissioners To Meet

Milam County Commissioners Court will hold a regular meeting Monday morning at 9 a.m. in the courthouse county court room.

School Board To Meet

The Cameron school board will meet Monday (tonight) at 8 p.m. in the superintendent's office at Ben Milam School.

Daniel Names Kubiak To Education Commission

AUSTIN

House Speaker Price Daniel, Jr., has named Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rock- dale to serve as a member of the Education Commission of the States, a national organization of state lead- ers and educators.

Kubiak is chairman of both the House Education Committee and the Constitutional Convention Education Committee.

In making the appointment Daniel said that Kubiak "represents the Commission's accomplished goal of having members whose training, ex- perience and knowledge broadly re- flect the best of educational and state leadership."

Other Texas officials serving on the Commission include Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris. Educators representing Tex- as on the Commission are Educa- tion Commissioner J. W. Edgar, Pr- esident John E. Gray of Lamar Uni- versity, President Philip G. Hoff- man of the University of Houston, President Abner McCall of Baylor, and President Bill J. Priest of Dal- las County Junior College.

Kubiak has also been appointed by Daniel to a special interim com- mittee to study the reorganization and modernization of state agencies wh- ich administer public education. The committee was created by a House resolution.

Daniel appointed 12 members to the committee, and the Governor is required by the resolution to appoint 12 lay members who have expert knowledge of the problems of admin- istering public education.

The study is to report its findings and suggested legislation at least one month prior to the convening of the 74th legislature in January, 1975.

No New Cases Of Hepatitis

No new cases of hepatitis among school children have been reported since four children have come down with the disease. Dr. Douglas Per- rin, city health officer, said one of the children will be well enough to return to school this week.

One adult case has been report- ed, that of a 19-year-old man, Dr. Perrin said.

Alcoans Named To New Positions

A pair of central Texans have been named to two new positions announc- ed this week by Aluminum Company of America.

Fred P. Bergeron will become Al- coa's Texas area manager. He will continue as operations manager of the company's Rockdale Works and An- derson County Works under construc- tion near Palestine.

Harold E. (Hal) Reagan, public re- lations manager for the Rockdale and Anderson County plants, has been pro- moted to the new post of Texas public relations manager. He will operate out of Rockdale while coordinating state affairs and public relations programs for Alcoa's Texas Operations.

The company has operating loca- tions at Point Comfort on the Gulf Coast, Marshall, Rockdale and in An- derson County where it is building the world's largest aluminum plant.

Bergeron transferred to Rockdale on January 1, 1972, from Alcoa's Massena (N.Y.) Operations where he was general production manager. Previous assignments were at Ten- nessee Operations and Point Com- fort (Tex.) Operations, where he spent the first 16 years of his career after graduation from the University of Texas at Austin.

He is a board member of Richards Memorial Hospital, East Texas Chamber of Commerce and Rockdale Rotary Club, and is a member of the Rockdale Chamber of Commerce, Ro- ckdale Country Club and Austin club.

Reagan also transferred to Rock- dale on January 1, 1972. He pre- viously was public relations mana- ger at Alcoa's Point Comfort Operations for four years. Prior to that he was a staff assistant in the com- pany's corporate public relations de- partment in Pittsburgh, Pa.

He was reared in Sherman and at- tended Tyler Junior College and North Texas State University. Reagan was graduated from the latter in 1958 with a bachelor's degree in journalism. He worked on newspapers in Denton, Tyler, Beaumont and Port Arthur be- fore entering industrial public rela- tions.

HAL REAGAN

Reagan is president of the South Milam County United Fund and a board member of Texas United Community Services. He is also president of the Rockdale Rotary Club, an executive board member of the Heart O' Texas Boy Scout Council and a board member of the Texas Public Relations Association and Rockdale Country Club.

He is a member of the Dallas Press Club, Austin Headliners Club and Rockdale Chamber of Commerce.

Commissioners Award Bids For Jail Construction

Milam County Commissioners Court, meeting in special session Wed- nesday, awarded bids for construction of the new county jail and for security equipment for the jail.

BRW Construction Co. of Temple was low bidder for the construction at $154,900. Five bids were opened, including R. B. Butler, Inc., $157,312; Cloud Construction Co., $164,162; Coffield Construction Co., $162,359; and Sentry Construction Co., $168,851.

Two bids were received for se- curity equipment with the low bid com- ing from Southern Steel Co. of San Antonio at $64,000.

In the only other item of business, the Court authorized Judge W. C. Wallace to consult with the Attorney General's Office and recommend an attorney to represent Milam County in regards to the Aluminum Company of America's clean air bonds.

Sales Tax Refund Is City's Largest

In spite of torn up streets, mess- ed up parking and other inconven- iences during the 1973 Christmas shopping period, the city's sales tax refund for the last quarter of 1973 was the largest ever received.

The refund for the months of Oct- ober, November and December was $21,174.84, representing a refund of the one cent sales tax charged by Cameron merchants.

The last quarter payment is usually the largest for the year, with Christ- mas shopping included in the totals.

In 1972, last quarter payment was less, with $18,832 being received from the state comptroller's office.

Payments of the sales tax refund are received by the city three months after being collected and turned in to the state.

State Rules Apply For Political Signs

Political campaign signs erected along Interstate or Federal Aid Pri- mary Highways are subject to the same regulations as other adverti- sing signs, the Texas Highway De- partment said today.

The Highway Beautification Act li- mits the erection of signs along most major highways to areas zoned for commercial or industrial use in ur- ban areas and to within 800 feet of a commercial or industrial activity in rural areas.

Streaking Gains World Popularity

By David Nicholson

NEWYORK
Reuter - In France, they call it "le streaking;" in London, it was "streakermania;" and in other parts of the world, bemused citizens and angry police saw it as just another peculiar American madness.

After its sudden spread last month across college campuses in the United States, streaking -- or running nude in public -- fast became an international fascination.

In Australia, a sad Melbourne husband arrested after streaking told a judge "I did it to impress the missus -- she's left home." The unimpressed judge gave him a month in jail.

In Seoul, a psychologist announced South Koreans would not have to worry about being confronted by streakers because Korean students had a stronger sense of shame than heroism.

Within hours, police were hunting for South Korea's first streaker. Streaking swept U. S. college campuses last month as similar fads as goldfish-swallowing and telephone booth-packing did in earlier generations. Ironically, the craze seems to have waned as the weather has warmed.

An international survey showed that at the many countries, the first reported streaking incidents were often carried out by Americans -- usually either by tourists or U. S. servicemen based abroad.

But in Britain, nude running took the country by storm as clothes were cast aside at football matches, mass rallies, in crowded streets and even on aircraft.

The British streakers dominated the headlines for a week before falling temperatures and heavy fines cooled their ardour. Although some were women who looked remarkable like models, most of the genuine streakers were men.

In France, the first recorded streak was made by 13 young Americans under the Eiffel Tower. The 13, all male, ran under the tower dressed only in track shoes and jumped into waiting cars before startled guards could react.

The French press gave prominent display to streaking incidents abroad, and the state radio began one newscast by saying: "I am afraid we have no streaking items for you today."

In West Germany, few incidents were reported and police were treating the phenomenon lightly. "You can hardly ask a naked man to show his credentials," a senior police official said. While some observers said chilly winds were preventing the spread of streaking, others suggested the results of the traditional German diet of beer and sausage encouraged many potential streakers to remain clothed.

The traditions of Spain, where topless sunbathing can mean arrest and kissing on the street is still frowned upon, brought a certain amount of modesty to the first streaking efforts there. In the first false starts at Bilbao University and at Virgo, would-be streakers held determinedly onto their underpants as they ran across a square.

Similar traditions repressed the spread of streaking in South America, where it was denounced by priests as a sin, a scandal and an infringement of the law of God.

In Asia, police have been placed on a special "streak alert" in several countries. In the wake of scattered nude running and in Japan, some police stations were issued with blankets to throw over captured streakers.

Police have issued firm warnings against streaking in South Korea, Taiwan, Thailand, Indonesia and several other Asian countries.

Some of these countries have yet to experience any streaking. In Malaysia, one female college student suggested a reason: "Our youths would emulate western youth in many aspects like becoming hippies, drug-taking or even sporting long hair, but this madness -- I don't think it will have an impact."

But some Asian authorities who were convinced streaking could never happen in their countries have learned otherwise.

A prominent South Korean psychologist, Dr. Yoon Tai-Rim, wrote in a Seoul newspaper: "We don't have to worry about that because students in this country, where Confucianism is prevalent, have stronger sense of shame than heroism."

South Korea's first streaker struck within hours in front of a university.

In Australia, the fad got rave picture treatment in most newspapers but was written off by many Australians.

"Streaking is a non-issue sensationalized by the press," said one university editor in Sydney. "Just be-cause American students streak, why should we?"

The Australian police apparently agree and have handed out some stiff sentences -- among them the month's imprisonment given the Melbourne man trying to impress his wife.

New Zealanders are reported to have reacted with greater enthusiasm dashing in the buff through city streets, hotel bars and restaurants.

One youth who made a 100-yard run through the streets of Auckland paid the price with a fine of one dollar for every yard he streaked.

Two other youths who tried a streak in the central North Island city of Hamilton were less lucky.

After they ran, police arrested them and threw them -- still naked -- into cold prison cells for the rest of the night.

Penal Code Specific On Felonies

State Senator H. Tati Santiesteban of El Paso described Texas' new Penal Code as one that is fairly specific on most issues but does not contain many of the technicalities of the old code.

Santiesteban, speaking to some 300 county and district clerks at their second annual seminar at Texas A&M University, noted that the code is very specific in spelling out the various classes of misdemeanors and degrees of felony offenses, plus the penalties and ranges of punishment that accompany each.

"Many of the penalties have been increased for certain offenses but the general description of the various offenses remain the same in the new code," he pointed out.

The state legislature adopted the new Penal Code last year.

"In numerous instances, the new code allows for more flexibility, as in the case of search warrants. Law officers with search warrants may now search for instruments thought to be used in a crime, whereas, under the old code, they could only search for specific items," he noted.

The state senator, who has practiced law for 12 years, said he believed the new Penal Code will enhance the justice system in Texas.

Santiesteban served in the Texas House of Representatives for six years before being elected to the Senate in 1972.

Third Element: Bigger Mall...

The third element of the Cameron Mall will begin to materialize with construction of a new Milam County Jail.

This contemporary, one-story structure will renew the leveled block east of the Courthouse, where offstreet parking will be available to the north of the new jail.

What remains on that side of the Mall area will be rejuvenation of the old Milam Jail as a museum of various elements of the Milam area.

It truly should be a Milam area museum because of massive size of the Milam Land Institute when all this opened up in the 1830s to the west, roughly an area from Austin to Fort Worth, about 50 counties.

The three-block mall will then be about complete. Some landscaping on the new jail side would give continuity to all the improvement on the center block, now all but complete.

The improvements continue to ring outward from the downtown development. Old buildings coming down, new awnings and front popping up in several other blocks.

We have only seen the first of continued, modern redevelopment. And it is already taking on the rustic, classic character of the new mall area.

So a new jail will bring on what so many continue to develop and so many thousands now appreciate.

Winds, Funnels Descend...

Small-town Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama are disaster areas, not to mention Ontario in Canada where 8 died.

What is usually considered placid snow and rain country looked like tornado struck plains country last mid-week.

Tennessee Valley Authority reports the worst damage in the 40 years of its history. Death toll throughout the Midwest is 335.

Thousands are homeless.

About $400 millions has been made available in federal disaster relief funds, but it will be short shrift for dozens of towns all but leveled by countless torna-does.

It is believed the worst destruction in about 50 years.

If you have seen the debris of a tornado-struck town, you can imagine what they're digging out of the Midwest. This recalls the tumultuous losses to Gulf hurricanes since Carla.

These Midwestern and Border State people will deal with this anguish, one of the worst natural disasters in the accumulate area in history. Major river floods in some part of this area are almost commonplace.

But the winds did blow and funnel clouds did descend the other day.

'Baptists And Bangtails' Gains New Popularity

"Baptists and Bangtails," the controversial book which details the intrigues and political maneuvering in the decades - old battle over pari-mutuel horseracing in Texas, will remain on display in the state's newsstands and bookstores until the May 4 primary election, according to its publisher, Cordovan Press of Houston.

"Demand for the book has increased substantially because the horseracing issue will be on the primary ballot," said Jack Donahue, Cordovan's senior editor. "Many people apparently feel that they can't get all the facts about the issue anywhere else."

More than 200,000 Texans signed petitions to get a horseracing referendum on the ballot.

"Baptists and Bangtails" traces the history of horseracing in Texas, including the pari-mutuel scene in the 1930s and the widespread corruption which led to its outlawing in 1937. It also explains how the pari-mutuel system works, and relates the experiences of other states where the system has been installed.

But much of the book is devoted to the in-fighting between the Christian Life Commission, the Baptist's powerful lobby group, and the various lobbying organizations of racing advocates.

Illegal betting goes on at the scores of small tracks in the state, but it is man-to-man wagering, not man-to-pari-mutuel window. Police and the Baptists wink at this type of gambling, the police because they can't stop it, the Baptists because they conserve their strength to fight pari-mutuel betting every time it comes up for a vote, the book explains. Baptists consider pari-mutuel betting a greater evil than man-to-man betting.

Horseracing draws more fans than any other spectator sport in the country, according to "Baptists and Bangtails." An attendance figure of 73,600,000 was recorded in 1971, for example, compared with 8,400,000 for professional basketball, 29,100,000 for major league baseball, and 41,000,000 for college and professional football combined.

"Baptists and Bangtails" was written by Kent Demaret, Houston journalist and television producer. It sells for $1.95 at newsstands and bookstores throughout the state.

No-Fault Legislation Pending Before Congress

Texas motorists wouldn't enjoy the benefits of a faster, fairer and more efficient system of auto insurance and still save money on premiums under no-fault legislation now pending before Congress.

According to a recent federally-funded study, the average Texas motorist would pay 23 per cent less for his personal injury auto insurance under the national standards no-fault law. The law would not affect the costs of auto damage insurance. But even those motorists who buy a full package of personal injury and auto damage insurance would have a saving of 8 per cent on their total auto insurance premium. Statewide, the savings would total $71,969,120.

These reductions in the price of auto insurance were forecast by the actuarial consulting firm of Millman and Robertson in a study prepared for the U. S. Department of Transportation. The study shows that $354, the National No-Fault Motor Vehicle Insurance Act, would produce insurance premium savings in all 50 states.

"This definitive study of the cost implications of no-fault insurance puts to rest once and for all the argument that no-fault will not reduce overall auto insurance costs," said Gary R. Frink, Executive Director of the National Committee for Effective No-Fault. The National Committee is made up of consumer, labor, automotive and insurance members and affiliates supporting national standards for no-fault auto insurance.

"The study also makes it clear that the key to cost savings in a system that pays all accident victims without regard to fault is the elimination of lawsuits in cases of minor injury," Frink said. "If this bill, which will give auto accident victims higher benefits while lowering their auto insurance costs, is to pass, Texas citizens must urge their U. S. Senators and Representatives to vote for it now, in its present form."

The national no-fault bill encourages states to enact compulsory auto insurance laws providing personal injury benefits to all accident victims from their own insurers without regard to fault; personal injury lawsuits would be allowed only in serious injury or death cases. Lawsuits for vehicle damage would not be affected.

If the state legislature enacted a no-fault law complying with the federal bill's minimum benefit standards

(unlimited medical, hospital and rehabilitation coverage; $15,000 per person in wage loss protection; a year's household replacement services coverage at $15 a day; and $5,000 in survivors' benefits) and restricting lawsuits for "pain and suffering" to cases involving death, serious injury or more than six months' total disability, the study said, the following premium reductions would result:

*on the personal injury coverages only (Bodily injury liability, medical payments, and uninsured motorists), savings for the average insured vehicle would be 23 per cent.

*since the bill does not affect auto damage coverages, savings on the total insurance premium paid for the average insured vehicle would be somewhat less, or 8 per cent.

The study noted that the premium savings will vary considerably according to the type of vehicle insured and the rating classification and territory involved. Generally, urban areas of the state would experience results that are more favorable than the average, and rural areas results that are less favorable.

Police Association To Hold Conference

Registration will begin Sunday afternoon, April 7, at 4 p.m. at Holiday Inn, 802 General Bruce Drive, site of the conference. Reception will follow at 7 p.m. Host will be Temple Chief of Police Leonard M. Hancock.

Welcoming ceremonies Monday morning will include Mayor Clements, City Manager Dodgen and Chief Hancock, all of Temple.

The keynote address will be made by E. E. Peters, San Antonio chief of police and president of the Texas Police Association.

New Excitement For 1974 At Six Flags Over Texas

Visitors to Six Flags Over Texas will find exciting changes and additions throughout the sprawling theme park this year.

Topping the list is the Park's new amphitheater, where some of the top names in show business will perform.

The half-million-dollar facility, with seating for more than 4,000 persons, is located between the landmark Oil Derrick and the Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike.

Opening of the amphitheater signals a new emphasis on the Park's "name act" entertainment program which, during 1973, featured concerts by such personalities as Bill Cosby, Charlie Rich, Charley Pride, Helen Reddy, Mac Davis and others.

General Manager Bob Freeman commented, "We presented more than thirty concerts by nationally-known artists last year, and we will have an even more exciting lineup in 1974."

Six Flags' entrance mall has been virtually re-built for 1974. The mall's floral beauty is accented by newly installed brick paving, framed by washed - aggregate concrete.

Totally new equipment is featured on two, familiar rides. The Spindletop (centrifuge) and El Sombbrero. Park officials said the changes will make both rides faster and more exciting.

On the edge of the scenic Canoe Lake is a major, new shop featuring imported gift items from throughout the world.

In addition, all of Six Flags' major theaters feature entirely new shows for the '74 season.

The biggest of the shows is "Great To Be Here!" It's the fullscale musical production in the Southern Palace Music Hall. Elaborate staging makes the show the most ambitious ever produced by the entertainment center.

Sid and Marty Krofft's Puppet Theatre also features a new production called "Footlight frolics." The extravaganza in miniature spotlights the puppet characters of such stars as Elvis, Tiny Tim and Liberace.

April 6-21 Shrimp Festival, Galveston. This salute to the shrimp industry features a full calendar of events. Highlights include: The crowning of "Miss Galveston Shrimp Festival" Saturday, April 6; sand casting contests, Saturday, April 13, (for amateurs) and Sunday, April 14, (for sculptors); ROTC rifle & drill team competition and a 5 p.m. parade Saturday, April 20; and the traditional blessing of the fleet early Sunday afternoon, April 21, at the Galveston Wharf. Spring Flowers Dot Highways

AUSTIN Ignoring both the fuel crisis and daylight savings time, spring is making its annual trip through Texas right on schedule.

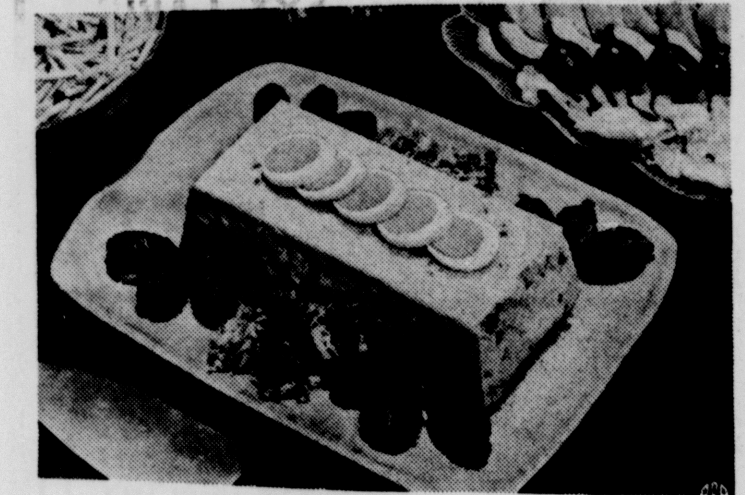

Texas Highway Department landscape architects, who keep a benevolent eye on the season, noted that it crossed the Rio Grande at Brownsville with neither visa nor declaration of citizenship. And because they are engineers too, they put a slide rule to the rate of spring's northward journey. As usual, it works out to a saunter -- 15 miles a day, or 55 feet per minute. Spring strolled through Austin a few days ago. Perennially fashion-conscious members of the Lupinus Texensis set immediately took their cue and began donning the season's foremost millinery style, their ever-enchanted bonnets of blue. Azaleas were so excited they could no longer contain themselves.

In East Texas the naked, spindly twigs of dogwood transformed overnight into galleries of luminous white. In West Texas thorny agaves erupted like fireworks of

Budget Wise Egg Loaf

Witness this delectable, fancy Elegant Gelled Egg Loaf made with hard-cooked eggs in a lemon and mayonnaise gelatin base with crisp trimmings. Unflavored gelatin is an artful way to economize for it turns leftovers or economy foods into appetizing and interesting dishes. They're so good-looking, too! This delicious loaf calls for practically no cooking--just enough to dissolve the gelatin thoroughly. When economy is the end in view, unflavored gelatin is the friend for you.

Elegant Gelled Egg Loaf

| 1 envelope unflavored gelatin | 3/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing |
| 1/2 cup cold water            | 1 1/2 teaspoons grated onion         |
| 1 teaspoon salt               | 1/2 cup finely diced celery          |
| 2 tablespoons lemon juice     | 1/4 cup finely diced green pepper    |
| 1/4 teaspoon pepper           | 1/4 cup chopped pimiento             |
|                               | 4 hard-cooked eggs, chopped          |

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water in saucepan to soften. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat; add salt, lemon juice and pepper. Cool. Add mayonnaise; mix in remaining ingredients. Turn into a 3-cup loaf pan or mold; chill until firm. Unmold on crisp greens.

YIELD: 4-6 servings.

Try A Mini Garden

COLLEGE STATION

"Don't despair just because there isn't enough yard space for a vegetable garden. Instead, try a 'mini-garden' or growing vegetables in containers," suggests Sam Cotner of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Almost any vegetable that grows in a typical back yard garden will do as well in a container placed on a window sill, patio, balcony or doorstep," says Cotner, a vegetable specialist. "And when gardening in containers, you don't have to worry about soil borne diseases, nematodes and poor soil conditions like yard gardeners do."

Vegetables suitable for mini-gardening include tomatoes, peppers, eggplant, green onions, lettuce, squash radishes, parsley and herbs. Vining plants like pole beans and cucumbers also do well when given adequate space for their vining habit.

"The container size will vary with the crop selected and the space available," says the Texas A&M University System specialist. "Tomatoes, peppers and eggplant do best in a five-gallon size container while six-inch pots are satisfactory for green onions, parsley and herbs."

Bushel baskets, drums, gallon cans, tubs, plastic trash containers, wooden boxes and similar containers are all suitable for a mini-garden.

A synthetic soil, which can be bought at a garden center or prepared at home, gives best results. It includes a mix of sawdust, wood chips, shavings, perlite, vermiculite, peat moss or almost any other type of growing media.

"Regardless of the soil mixture used, it must be free of disease and weed seeds, capable of holding moisture and nutrients, and yet, well-drained," cautions the specialist.

Cotner also recommends that vegetables be transplanted into the containers rather than direct seeded. Transplant with care so that the young plants' root systems receive no injury.

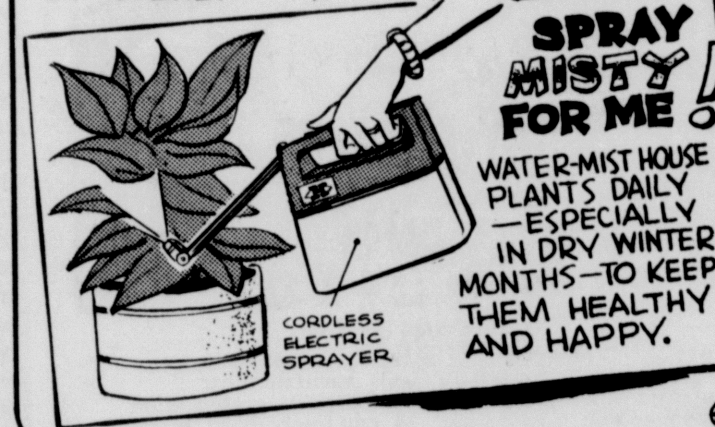

To provide plants with adequate nutrients, water once a day with a nutrient solution. Prepare a base solution by dissolving two cups of a complete fertilizer such as 10-10-5 or 10-10-10 in one gallon of tap water. Then, mix two tablespoons of the base solution with a gallon of water and use this to water plants about once a day.

To avoid a build-up of non-soluble materials in the soil, Cotner advises watering with tap water instead of the nutrient solution at least once a week.

The specialist has one additional suggestion: "Since a mini-garden is mobile, locate the containers where they will receive adequate sunlight. All vegetables do better in full sun."

GARDEN TIPS from Jerry Baker

AMERICA'S MASTER GARDENER

Black Spot Vital In Roses

Texas Agricultural Extension Service
The Texas A&M University System

Black spot, the most serious disease of roses, can be effectively controlled by beginning cultural and chemical practices in early spring, notes a plant pathologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The disease stems from a fungus and causes a black spot with an irregular margin, surrounded by a zone of yellow tissue," explains Dr. Walter Walla. "Frequently, defoliation occurs, reducing the carbohydrate concentration in the canes and thus, the amount of foliage and flowering parts."

If control practices like pruning of diseased parts and application of fungicides are started in early spring, the disease will be less severe later in the season.

Pruning the tops of infected roses will eliminate overwintering infection sites on the upper stems. Removing old leaves and raking and burning fallen leaves also eliminates infection sites, according to the Texas A&M University System specialist.

both leaf surfaces," advises Walla.

Cleaning Indoor Plants

COLLEGE STATION

Without Mother Nature's cleansing rainfall, indoor plants need help to keep leaf surfaces dust-free, one authority points out.

"To keep houseplants looking their best, carefully clean them once or twice a month," advises Dr. William C. Welch.

The landscape horticulturist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, noted that a wet sponge or soft cloth -- rinsed frequently in clean water -- offers a dependable method for cleaning smooth-leaved plants.

"If leaves are extremely soiled, use a solution of mild soap and water.

"Those with many small leaves may require a gentle water spray outdoors -- with plenty of water."

"Either way, water should be at or near room temperature -- cold water can cause leaf blemishes," he explained.

Water the plant thoroughly several hours before application of a commercial leaf polish to avoid possible damage, Welch emphasized.

Plants with hairy leaves require special attention, the specialist added. "To avoid bruising the, use a camel hair brush to carefully dust leaves."

Plan Landscape For Value, Beauty

COLLEGE STATION

A properly landscaped yard can increase the beauty and value of a home.

"Several concepts should be kept in mind when planning a yard, such as family desires, simplicity, unity, textural contrasts and ultimate plant size," points out Dr. William C. Welch, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

He suggests preparing a plan and drawing in the house, property lines and other permanent features. Then, consult each family member and list his needs. Thus areas for outdoor living, gardening and other interest can be assigned to meet the needs of the entire family.

"Simplicity is variety without confusion. Use trees, shrubs, bricks and fences for specific needs to improve the over-all and utility of the yard," advises the Texas A&M University System specialist.

Unity can be achieved with a proper balance of simplicity, contrast and scale. The temptation to add plants bought on sale or sent by friends is often less if the yard appears complete without them, believes Welch.

Contrasts with plants and structures can add interest. Try large-leaved plants like bananas or cannas to contrast with ferns, or use a fine-textured stucco wall around a yard with coarse-looking flagstone steps.

"Scale depends on the house structure and yard area. Large steps and trees can be used with a larger style home but would dwarf a low-lying house and destroy the intended design," concludes Welch.

Classes To Resume On Predator Control

Training programs in the experimental use of the M-44 predator control device to reduce livestock losses will resume just as soon as classes can be rescheduled, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

Classes were cancelled when a restraining order was imposed in early March. The order was lifted March 29. The program is to run until June 1, 1975.

Forty-four counties have been named as sites for the experiment. They were chosen on the basis of greatest predation loss and climatic and geographical conditions. Milam County is participating in the program.

All livestock owners who received permits after attending the schools before the restraining order was imposed may proceed with the use of the M-44 and can purchase the sodium cyanide capsules. White states. Permits are being mailed to all who have had the training but were not issued permits.

"By the end of the week we should be able to announce schedules. Right now we plan to begin the first classes in the Central Texas area," White said.

Annual Flowers Brighten Landscape

Flowering annuals can serve as accents and color coordinators in home landscapes.

"Careful planning will help you achieve success with these plants," reminds Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Use annual beds as borders along fences, sides of the house or around the patio where they will not detract during the off-season. These beds should be well-drained. Use an edging to raise the bed level if necessary," suggests the specialist.

Improve tight clay soils by adding two to three inches of sharp builders sand and the same amount of organic matter, such as peat moss. Then work this material into the soil to a depth of 8 to 10 inches.

Be sure the soil is fertile in the beds. Apply two to three pounds of a complete fertilizer such as 12-12-12 or its equivalent per 100 square feet and work it into the top six inches of soil.

"Once you've prepared the beds properly, design a pleasing pattern," advises Janne. "Place taller plants in the back if the bed is viewed from only one side. If the bed is viewed from many areas, plant the taller flowers in the center."

Fertilize the flower bed every three or four weeks at one to two pounds per 100 square feet. Water regularly but do not keep the soil saturated, cautions the horticulturist.

Vegetable Varieties Important For Garden

An important step in getting your home vegetable garden off to a good start is to plant the proper varieties. "Varieties vary from region due to the climate, soil types and other factors," points out Sam Cotner, vegetable specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Planting only those adapted to the area in which you live will help you to have a more productive garden, and the vegetables will be of better quality." Although many home gardens have already been planted across the state, there is still time to plant a number of vegetables. If you have already planted some of the crops listed below, keep notes as they progress during the season especially if the varieties are different from those listed. The Texas A&M University System specialist lists these varieties as the top performers in Texas: Bush beans: Contender, Top crop, Wade, Blue Lake, Romano, Tendercrop. Pole beans: Stringless Blue Lake, Kentucky Wonder, Dade, Romano. Lettuce: head -- Great Lakes strains, Valverde; leaf -- Black Seeded Simpson, Salad Bowl, Oakleaf, butter head -- Summer Bibb, Tendercrisp; romaine -- Valmaine. Okra: Clemson Spineless, Louisiana Green Velvet, Dwarf Green. Southern peas: purple hull -- Blackeye No. 5, Brown Sugar Crowder, Burgundy, Knuckle Purple Hull; cream -- Champion, Cream 40. Sweet pepper: Yolo Wonder, Keystone Giant. Irish potato: white -- Kennebec; red -- Red Lasoda; russet -- Norgold. Cabbage: Glove, Early Round Dutch, Greenback, Golden Acre; red -- Red Acre; new hybrids -- Roundup, Superette, Rio Verde. Cantaloupes: Perlita, Rio Gold, Smith's Perfect, Golden Perfection. Carrots: Imperator, Danvers 126, Nantes, Red Core Chantenay. Sweet corn: Aristogold

Bantam Evergreen, Merit, Golden Security, Buttersweet; white -- Silver Queen. Cucumbers: pickling -- National Pickling, Piccadilly; slicers -- Palomar, Ashley, Poinsett, Straight 8. Radish: Cherry Belle, Early Scarlet Globe, White Icicle. Squash: Early Prolific Straightneck, Dixie Hybrid Crookneck, White Bush Scallop, Zucchini. Tomatoes: homestead, Young, TAMU Chico III, TAMU Monte Grande, Walter, Early Giant Hybrid, Improved Summertime; nematode resistant -- Nematex Terrific, Bonus. Turnips: Purple Top White Globe, Crawford. Watermelons: Charleston Gray, Sugar Baby, Klondike, Seedless Tri-X 313, Crimson Sweet, Sweet Princess, Jubilee. Cotner also advises home vegetable gardeners to keep on the look out for new hybrids. "Researchers for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and commercial breeders are continuing to work hard to develop new varieties that are better producers, that are resistant to certain insects and diseases, and that are better adapted to certain climatic conditions."

Cotton Outlook Strong

A sharp increase in consumption at home, combined with growing demand overseas, will keep cotton prices strong and steady this year, a study by Cotton Incorporated shows. Cotton Incorporated President J. Dukes Wooters Jr. predicts domestic demand for the 1974 U.S. cotton crop will reach at least 8 million bales, and the export market will consume 6 million bales. As head of Cotton Incorporated, Wooters is spokesman for cotton farmers in 19 states. The company represents growers with research, sales and marketing programs at home and abroad. "All things considered, the outlook for cotton in 1974 is the brightest in many years," Wooters said. "And the look continues to be bright well into the future, even beyond this decade and on into the next."

Wooters said his company's market analysts calculate that American cotton growers will plant almost 15 million acres of cotton this year. The acreage should yield 14 million bales -- but it may not be enough. "Simple arithmetic shows that cotton production will be about equal combined domestic and export demand," he said, "leaving little or nothing to increase U.S. carryover, which is already at a critically low level. So 1974-75 could well be another year with tight conditions of supply and strong prices."

Floratom Grass Solves Problems

Texas homeowners have a new weapon with which to battle chinchbugs and St. Augustine grass decline (SAD) in their St. Augustine grass lawns.

Floratom, a new variety of St. Augustine grass that is resistant to these maladies, is now available at most local nurseries, notes Dr. Walter Walla, plant pathologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The new grass was developed jointly by the Florida and Texas Agricultural Experiment Stations. It was released to commercial sod producers in 1972.

"Besides being resistant to SAD and chinchbugs, Floratom is also tolerant to downy mildew and gray leaf spot. However, brown patch and rust still pose problems, and the new grass is less hardy than Common St. Augustine grass," points out the Texas A&M University System specialist.

The new grass is moderately coarse-textured, is fast-growing and has a dark green color. It also has a larger root system than common St. Augustine grass. Floratom can be used in establishing a new lawn or for interplanting in established lawns that are affected by SAD. However, late fall planting is not recommended.

"When interplanting, plant the sprigs on 18-inch centers. For new lawns or seedbeds, plant on 12 to 18-inch centers," suggests Walla.

"Keep unplanted sprigs out of heat and drying conditions. After planting, water the grass thoroughly and keep it watered. Apply a complete fertilizer when the new runners begin to grow.

"Be sure to purchase Floratom sod or sprigs from a reputable nursery since it is hard to distinguish from Common St. Augustine grass," advises Walla.

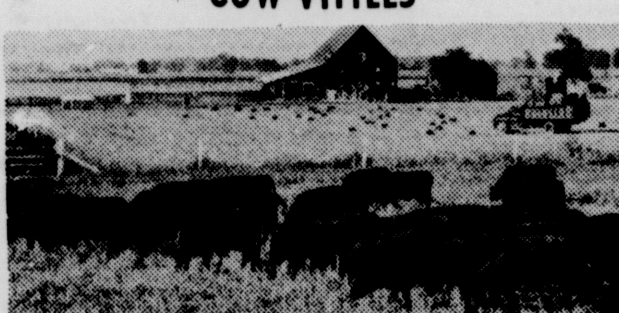

"A list of certified Floratom producers is available from your local county Extension office."
